The letter portion only was despatched to Canton, and to Swatow, Amoy, and Foochow, by the Kwangtung, which was waiting off North Point. The Peshawur brought the Australian Mail expected next week by French packet. It is feared some mishap has taken place in the London Office, as many home letters are missing. H. M. S. Egeria, 4, Commander A. L. Douglas, will shortly proceed Northwards. The boat's crews of this vessel have borne a high | inst. The next inward (P. and O.) mail reputation in China waters for their rowing abilities, and we believe an effort is being made to pull off a match between them and a boat's crew of the Commissariat Department, before her departure for the North. The Commissariat crew also stands in high favor amongst boating connoisseurs and an interesting race may be expected should the match be concluded.

The only important cases before the Court were that against the man who was shot by Per Namoa, at 5 p.m., on Saturday, the West, on the morning of the 27th ult., who has been committed for trial on a charge of burglary; and that of a boy employed by Mr W. ROSENBERG, the publisher of a low London print, called Town Talk, has been sentence to 18 months' imprisonment for libelling Mrs. Langtry, and Mrs. West. Rosenberg insisted that Mr. Laugtry was about to take proceedings in the Divorce Court against his wife, and that the Prince of Wales was, if not a co-respondent, at any rate, interested in the case. The case has excited great interest at home and much satisfaction is felt at the result. It is highly to be desired that this lesson may have due effect upon the "Society Journals" of the period; and that the reminder thus given to quasi-journalists, to at least simulate the bearing of gentlemen when posing before the public in their own columns, may have a salutary effect. The recent innovations of the class of newspaper referred to have been militating against the respectability of journalism generally; and the punishment inflicted in this case will receive the approval of every respectable public writer wherever h may be found.

THE P. & O. Coy. has been true to the reputation it has so long borne of rising to the importance of the occasion in the case of a break-down or accident. Indeed. it is the one consolation for the old Company, that such accidents enable it to show D. R. Crawford, T. C. Hayllar, Q.C., W. its real power and resources. When it was known that the Pekin which took the place of the Australia could not reach Brindisi until a week later than the date the Australia should have been there, the P. M. G. gave notice that the mails via Brindisi would be kept open till the 31st, to which date we have to-day advices from Home,-38 days from London, a very smart passage. The M. M. Anadyr, due next week, brings the same London dates.

But for the mishap concerning a portion of the mails—which does not as yet appear to be attributable to the Company—the arrival here to-day. Several years ago a meeting of the Peshawur, on the due date for the Oct. 24th mail, with the 31st Oct. advices, unfriendly to St. Paul's College, and it and the cargo of the broken-down Australia, would have been one of the smartest things done by the P. & O. for many a long day. As it is, the credit is well deserved and decededly indicative of energetic management. The Bombay Agent thus foretold the changes rendered necessary by the accident to the Australia:-The following are the arrangements made to meet the break-down of the outward English mail steamer, of the 16th October, from Southampton, the ustralia, whose crank shaft broke and reached Plymouth in tow. Being a fast steamer she will push along, and probably land these mails and her own The Pekin was despatched at once from London to Plymouth for the China Australian cargo, passengers and mails, and would leave on the 25th. As she also is a fast boat, and the Tanjore takes on the Australian mails, and the Peshavour China ones from Galle, they will all give a very good account of themselves, and a very large proportion of the lost time will be recovered. The despatch of the Nepaul from Bombay to Calcutta, calling en route at the wreck of the Hindostan, will similarly prevent any irregularity on the Calcutta

HONGKONG PUBLIC SCHOOL. MEETING OF SUBSCRIBERS AND OTHERS

THIS AFTERNOON.

A meeting was held this afternoon, in the Library of St. Paul's College, under the presidency of His Excellency the Governor, of subscribers and those interested in the proposal for the establishment of a Public School for European children. There were present: Bishop Burdon, Sir John Smale, Hon. W. Keswick, Hon. P. Ryrie, Hon, H. B. Gibb, T. Jackson, Esq., and A. Lister, Esq., (who, with the Hon. J. Russell, formed the provisional Committee, appointed some time ago for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of support that might be relied on from the Community generally towards such a scheme), and Dr Chalmers, Dr Eitel, and Messrs Morgan, N. J. Ede and others. The special purpose of the meeting was to hear the report of the Provisional Committee and to elect a Permanent Committee to carry on the school. The Chairman, as this was a purely business meeting, simply called on the Bishop, without preface, for his statement. Bishop Burdon said that on waiting on His Excellency the other day in connection with an entirely different matter, he, the Governor, had been good enough to volunteer to be present here to-day with a view to assisting those who had taken this scheme in hand. It had afterwards struck him, (his Lordship) that there was perhaps a peculiar fitness in the Governor of the Colony presiding over this meeting was held, under the presidency of the then Governor at which the feeling was rather was considered that that Institution had failed in its duty in not carrying out the scheme which they were now combining to carry out. That view was founded on a mistake. Some hard things were said which it would perhaps be better not to go into now. He believed the feeling was different now. St. Paul's College was entirely a missionary Institution, and the Bishop was tied to use its funds for mission purposes. This proposed School, if it was to come about, would have to be through voluntary subscriptions from the public, He had very little to say to the present meeting. He came in the name of the Provisional Committee to ask the meeting to accept its resignation and to appoint a Permanent Committee. He would only say a few words as to the nature and object of the School, and perhaps that would be best done by mentioning the objections he had heard against it, and dealing withthem. He had written a good many notes, as some of them might know, with regard to this scheme, and he got a variety of replies. One was to the effect that it was not considered. likely to be a very efficient scheme, and herefore the writer would not be willing to assist it. It was a pity if their object was mistaken. There was no attempt in their minds to establish here a Rugby, or a Shrewsbury, or anything like our great public schools; the material does not exist here for it; but if they were to do nothing at all unless their fruits were to be the very best fruits, he was afraid they would never improve things. Then it was said the persons for whom they were taxing themselves were able to provide themselves the education they were doing their best to give them for their children. Their efforts concerned themselves with providing for the families of those who could not afford to send them home or who are in such circumstances that it was not expedient to do so. Besides, as they knew, it was in many cases not only the sending home of the children but there was the great difficulty of finding a home for them in England, our own home being here. There was great difficulty and great expense to be met in this. A third objection had been made; which he should like to do away with for ever. He would like to remove for good any idea that might be that anything done in St. Paul's College was in any way in opposition to anything that exists, What teaching was done there now was for sent by the following vessels: Heeperia, s.s., Chinese mainly; at first it was for Chinese only. When he first introduced the change he was sure there was no such idea in his mind; there was, if possible, less now. They occupied two spheres entirely different, as different as could be. There was room enough for both, and work enough for each in its own sphere. The Governor: Hear, hear. His Lordship, concluded by again remarking that the school was not to be an lusive one, and that the Committee to the to-day appointed was to be a Permanent Committee for the management, so far as. the management lay with a Committee,of the school. He laid in the hands of the meeting the resignation of the Provisional Committee, which was accepted. The Chief Justice asked for further information from the Bishop as to what had already been done, and the precise scheme or basis on which it was proposed to begin. The Bishop apologised for omitting to report progress. They had secured in subscriptions what was estimated as sufficient to cover the first year's expenses,-This had been obtained in small subscriptions, to make it as general as possible. The plan was to open a day school to be carried on under the supervision of the committee the meeting would now be asked to name. A teacher had been asked for from England. It had been and it required time to bring any such the subject matter of the teaching in which Bht that as we are so far from England arrangement into effect no time should be lost in sending for a suitable teacher, and he would settle it by and bye. ford, H. W. Davis, and A. Lister. Hon. Mr Gibb and Mr Forbes both stated that they would probably be leaving the Colony soon, but allowed their names to stand at the request of the Bishop.

On the suggestion of the Chief Justine, the Committee was given power to add to the number of its members. Rev. J. Henderson seconded the resolution, which was carried.

In reply to the Chief Justice, who asked whether it would not be well to state what was to be determined by this Committee, what they were expected to do and what limits were placed upon them,

The Bistiop said the matters of, fees and hours for instance were such as would come within their province; they would have to settle all the little details connected with posed it. the working of the school. The master would be, he hoped, notwithstanding the fears of some, an efficient man for his work. He had done his best to get a good man selected for the post; great care would be taken in the appointment. And so far from there being any opposition between himself and Dr Stewart, he had gone to that gentleman to ask his advice about this very matter, and he was one of the anbscribers. (Applause.) On the motion of the Hon. P. Ryrie, seconded by Mr Tomlin, the Committee was given power to elect its own Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Chief Justice thought it would be well to have it clearly understood what really was to be committed to the Committee. Their experience in E. gland was that there must be but one master in a school, and therefore the Committee had only to deal with matters which were without doubt outside his depar ment. Whenever there was interference there was failure. thought the lines laid down in the paper he held in his hand, issued by the Provisional Committee ought to commend themselves to the mind of every man from whatever standpoint he might regard the He was in favour of instructionreligious instruction, and if they could not have it, then instruction-and he looked with great satisfaction on what the Roman Catholics had done here. They had shown us an example which we ought to follow. Their educational work had been a decided success; he hoped this scheme would be the for every class of thought, particularly reli- ing in the School. He agreed that no same. There was plenty room in this Colony gious thought. If they were to get a good Presbyterian School established, he would be very glad to see it. If they were not able to establish such a school, they could all agree in supporting this establishment, which the late Mr Kidd raised to meet one of the very highest wants of this Colony. (Hear hear.) He did not think there was B Dissenter in the Colony, although his views were very special, very different from those which prevail at present, he was sure there was not a Presbyterian nor an Independent, who would not have preferred sending his child to Mr Kidd rather than giving him no education at all or education without religion. From Dr Chalmers' great and acknowledged learning and the acknowledged talents of our much respected Bishop, the Committee would receive great assistance. The Bishop agreed with the Chief Justice that the Committee should not interfire with the scholastic management of the scheme. In no place was interference with any man's duty more injurious than in a school. There could be only one head. He thought the Committee named might be depended upon not to seek to meddle with what was known as, and what was exclusively,—the master's department.

Dr Kitel asked what subjects were to be taught. The point was to his mind an important one. Was Chinese to be taught? Was Latin to be taught? Greek? What standard would the school be kept up to? The Bishop said these subjects might all be taught in time, but certainly not at first. an age that they would not be fit to receive (Before His Lordship the Chief Justice, Sir lessons in Chinese, Latin and Greek. Mr Keawick proposed a vote of thanks to the governor for presiding; they were all pleased to have His Excellency bere on this eccasion.

The Bishop sec inded the motion. His Excellency, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, referred to a line in the circular issued by the Provisional Committee. "Fees and a Government grant-in-aid, if the latter can be secured in proportion to the expenses and the character of the School, would help considerably toward the support of the Master. Subscriptions would have to be depended on to complete the sum yearly required." This passage ought to recommend itself to some of his hon. friends present. Rishop had told them some $2000 had been obtained in subscriptions. He saw two Bank Directors and a Bank manager present; he reminded them of the necessity of keeping up the subscriptions to this school. As to what Government was to do. whoever drew up the statement was justified in believing that a Government grant in aid would be given to this School in proportion to the expense and the success that attended it, that is in proportion to the amount of money subscribed by the public and the results of the teachattempt was being made to establish Rugby here; but he hoped they aspired to making it, he hoped they would make it the first-class public school of a first-class critish Colony. (Applause.) They had heard that religion was to be taught in this school and the Rible read every day, and as he understood it no particular hours were to be set spart for that education only, but it was to be mixed up with the other branches of the teaching. Acting under the instructions of Her Majesty's Government, he would be able in future to gave a grant in aid to such a school as this. Speaking for himself as head of the Government he was in favour of education, and believed it was the duty of the Government to support it. He might tell them that he had received instructions from Sir Michael Hicks Beach to delete from the form of grant-in-aid the word "secular" and the word "elementary," and every school in this Colony could now ob tain a grant-in-aid provided the resultastated by certain approved standards were certified by the Government Inspector of Schools to have been attended by teaching. That was now the principle in England, and indeed the greater part of the world, and that principle being now adopted here he pected. looked forward to the pleasure of approving of a large grant for this school (applause.) The meeting then separated.

ing been formed, I have now to propose that a few members of it form a committee to arrange about taking up steamers and other details connected with its working. You are all well aware that the East India Company grew by monopoly, and that we two ladies, two children, and 537 cordially support the shippers' association. It is necessary that the combined shipowners should be vigorously opposed now, as the chances of successfully doing so hereafter will gradually diminish as time goes on, and they occupy the entire field with the additional steamers which, it is stated; they have bought or contracted for since their combination was formed. You know that ed by a few of us for the outward voyage, and the cargo of the latter being nearly completed, we are looking for another to follow these steamers. It is, however, difficult at present to get steamers on reasonable terms, owing to the threats of the combination "to nurse" any " outside steamers" that may load, and it is only natural that shipowners generally should be annoyed and alarmed by clauses 8 and 21 of the Combination "Regulations for working the China and Japan trade outwards and homewards," and its "defence fund" against outside steamers. It is for us to show that a monopoly of the carrying trade with the Far East will not be submitted to. We are willing that all vessels employed in it should earn fair rates of freight, but we wish that trade to remain free to all, and our object is to secure that Edbul, Oot. 30.—Many lakhs of treasure, have endeavoured to do this for themselves, quent charters into 64th shares, one or more

We do not look for profits, one of us. I take it we have no right to but wish all to co-operate and to be more or less interested in the working of this association, and the committee will report progress from time to time. As shippers would probably not be able to engage any fixed monthly quantity of freight it would be well to give timely notice of goods coming forward, that the necessary arrangements for tonnage might be made, and with this information we understand some shipowners would be willing to put their vessels on the berth without charters. The following gentlemen have been acting as a committee so far: Messrs. Duncanson, Smith, Dent, Hudson, Michie, and Paterson. Mr. Michie, however, resigns in favour of Mr. Bosman. I have now to propose that these be the committee, with power to add to their

Mr. Alfred Dent doubted if it was necessary to ask all the firms represented at the meeting to bind themselves to the liability grounds for believing that a sufficient number of merchants would come forward of placed on the berth in the usual way. The second steamer, the Escambia, could not be secured on the same conditions, and consequently was chartered. It will be seen that the subscribers to this charter are already more than sufficient; but as their primary object is to provide freight on co-operative principles as far as possible, rather than to secure a profit for themselves, it was resolved in committee that the charter should be further subdivided into 1-64th shares, and that applications for one or more such shares should be invited (to be supplied by the original subscribers); for this purpose, therefore, the paper is placed on the table. It is thought that the committee will have no difficulty in securing tonnage under somewhat similar conditions as the Escambia should owners or others be disinclined to place steamers on the berth.

After some remarks, relative to marine insurance, the Chairman pointed out that the China offices sympathised with the movement, and they were willing to take a certain amount at same rate as the Castle

Mr. Carter: They had applied to them, but without success. It would be quite intelligible had they said they were full, but they did not say so.

The Chairman: You are aware, gentlemen, that the Escambia is fully engaged, and another ship is wanted. There is plenty of cargo to fill another vessel, or nearly so, and I think we may calculate upon getting the support of the meeting in what we do, as regards chartering of another vessel. After further steps had been taken to carry out the object of the meeting, Mr Smith said: I am not ashamed for any of the proceedings that have taken place to-day to be made public; we do not want to hide ourselves under a bushel, and I would suggest that The Times and other London papers, the China Express and all the China papers have a report of the meeting sent Dr David Brown: I have much pleasure in proposing a vote of thanks to the Chairman, and I am quite sure that the unanimity shown at this meeting must have a powerful effect on the "Combination." We only want united action; we have truth and justice on our side. Mr L. Wiese begged to second this. The vote was then unanimously passed, and the meeting broke up.

The following is a copy of the resolutions passed at the meeting :-1. This meeting having taken into full. consideration the "Notice to Shippers to China and Japan," issued by the representatives of the principal steam lines about the end of August last, in which the signatories claim a monopoly of the carrying trade between Europe and the Far East, and intimate their intention to apply coercive measures to merchants who may infringe

2. That an executive committee of the following gentlemen, with power to add to their numbers, be appointed to provide steam tonnage for China and Japan for the members of the association, and to promote the objects of the association :- Mr Duncanson (T. 3. That this meeting, thoroughly recognising the importance of unanimity in this cause, pledges itself to support the steamers that may from time to time be put on the berth under the auspices of the "China and Japan Shippers' Association," and to invite the co-operation of their friends at home and abroad.
